

Market, Sector & Fund Focus: The Up-to-Date, Just-in-Time Global Update You Need

Everything you need to know, and only what you need to know, with the most current, relevant information. Financial services is a constantly evolving industry, always in flux. Latest developments in the markets will affect your clients, your staff and your business. The difficulty lies in getting reliable, useful information just when you need it: homing in on the signal without getting distracted by the noise.

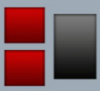

In this session, you will enjoy a no-holds-barred, thorough but laser-focused tour of latest trends and breaking news, in each of the major markets around the world and across asset classes, always keeping in mind the regulatory impact of the latest changes. The course also explores how new technology completely changes the way we engage with clients, and includes an update on Exchange Trading Funds as the fastest-growing financial product in the world.

Who should attend?

Delegates who need to keep abreast of current affairs within their role. It is of particular interest to people making strategic decisions for their company, busy executives who have a keen interest in world developments and those working in financial services in a client-facing role.
